

WEMC World Energy &
Meteorology Council

Welcome to the WEMC newsletter

In our last newsletter of 2018, we're pleased to share details of our new Special Interest Group; a summary of our contribution to the recent United Nations climate change conference, COP24; plus the latest news about our International Conference Energy & Meteorology (ICEM) and the upcoming stakeholder workshop for our EU Horizon 2020 project, SECLI-FIRM.

As we approach a new year, I would like to thank all of our members and followers for your support and wish you all the best for 2019.

As always, you can keep up to date with WEMC via Twitter (@WEMCouncil) and our LinkedIn page.

Best wishes,
Alberto Troccoli, Managing Director
✉ alberto.troccoli@wemcouncil.org
☎ +44 (0)20 3286 3250

SECLI-FIRM Workshop

Our next SECLI-FIRM stakeholder workshop programme has been released and we're delighted to confirm a number of leading speakers from the energy and meteorology industries will be joining us. Visit our website for more details about the workshop, to be held in January 2019 in Milan.

Find out more

icem 2019

Call for abstracts

ICEM 2019 will take place at DTU in Denmark next June and we would like to remind everyone that the call for abstracts and supporting sessions closes on 25 January. More information and guidelines are available on our website.

Submission guidelines

Registrations for ICEM 2019 are now OPEN!

We are also delighted to announce that early-bird registrations for ICEM 2019 are now open. The conference programme is starting to take shape and you can find regular updates on our ICEM 2019 webpage. Early-bird registration closes on 19 April.

Register for ICEM 2019

New SECLI-FIRM video

Our new SECLI-FIRM video, showing the value and application of season climate forecasting for the energy and water industries is now live! Take a look at the video for a more detailed insight into the project.

Watch the SECLI-FIRM video

COP24 · KATOWICE 2018
UNITED NATIONS CLIMATE CHANGE CONFERENCE

Report from COP24

Professor Alberto Troccoli contributed to the global discussion on climate and energy at the United Nations Climate Change Conference (COP24). WEMC were invited to take part in five key events at the conference in Katowice.

Read our blog

WEMC Members Update

We're delighted to announce the launch of our first Special Interest Group (SIG) focusing on Data Exchange, Access and Standards in the context of the energy and meteorology sectors. To join, please

email info@wemcouncil.org

Update Your Details

We'll have more opportunities for members to contribute to WEMC's work in 2019. If you haven't updated your details recently, please log in and let us know what aspects of our work you'd be interested in hearing more about.

Access your member profile

Become a WEMC Member

Members of our $E=MC^2$ community get exclusive access to resources and discussion forums. Membership is free, so if you haven't already joined, why not do it today?

Apply now

Prescient Weather Upgrade

Prescient Weather, an industry-leading provider of long-range weather and climate forecasts, has upgraded its sub-seasonal forecast product.

Find out more

WEMC

The Enterprise Centre
University Drive
Norwich
United Kingdom

TWEET

FORWARD